

CAN YOU HELP US?

We are looking for research participants to help us better understand generalised anxiety (GAD) and OCD

UNIVERSITY OF OXFORD

Ethics Approval
Reference:
R83062/RE002

We are looking for volunteers with generalised anxiety disorder (GAD), obsessive compulsive disorder (OCD), and volunteers with no current mental health difficulties, aged 18 years and over, to complete an online study, which has received ethical approval from the University of Oxford Central University Research Ethics Committee (CUREC).

SCAN HERE

FOR MORE
INFORMATION

RESEARCH TEAM:

Professor Paul Salkovskis
Principal Investigator

Dr Eloise Stark
Trainee Clinical Psychologist

Participating in this research will involve a short phone call to confirm that this study is right for you, followed by filling in a series of online questionnaires.

The whole process will take about 1 hour of your time

HOW CAN I
FIND OUT MORE?

If you are interested and would like more information please contact Dr Eloise Stark, Trainee Clinical Psychologist, at the Oxford Centre for Clinical Psychology Training and Research by emailing eloise.stark@psy.ox.ac.uk or by scanning the QR code above. There is no obligation to take part.