

Can you help us?

We are looking for participants to help us better understand attitudes and beliefs around belongings

Ethics Reference Number: R96236/RE003

We would like to speak to individuals who:

- i. have a significant problem with gathering and keeping excessive amounts of objects to the extent that it causes difficulties in their living space
- ii. do not have a significant problem with gathering and keeping excessive amounts of objects
- iii. collect particular items as a hobby

This project consists of two parts, an online questionnaire battery and online tasks. You may also be asked to attend a brief interview call with the researcher(s) to help us understand your experience further. You must be aged 18 years or over to take part.

You will be reimbursed with a £10 Love2Shop voucher upon completing the study.

To express your interest please scan the QR code or email:

beliefs@hmc.ox.ac.uk

Faye Denham
Trainee Clinical Psychologist
Oxford Institute of Clinical Psychology
Training and Research

Elliott House
Trainee Clinical Psychologist
Oxford Institute of Clinical Psychology
Training and Research

Professor Paul Salkovskis
Consultant Clinical Psychologist
Oxford Institute of Clinical Psychology
Training and Research

Dr Sam French
Senior Clinical Psychologist